

Accuse Wrong Man Of Murder Defense Argues To Jurors

Johnson Didn't Kill Police Officer At Wellsville
His Counsel Says.

SON OF MINISTER
TRIED FOR CRIME

State Prepares To Place 33
Witnesses On The Stand At Lisbon.

Lisbon, March 28.—In his opening statement to the jury in criminal court this morning Attorney Ben L. Bennett, East Liverpool, defending Edward Johnson, colored, charged with first degree murder, declared, "I am satisfied that they have the wrong man."

Mr. Bennett explained to the jury that "I have nothing to conceal and will only submit the true facts of the situation. This young man was born 23 years ago at Greenville, S. C., of Christian parents, his father is a Baptist minister. This boy came north to get work in order to obtain money to send home to pay for the education of his sister."

Jurors Selected

The following jury members were selected late Tuesday: S. J. Broomall, contractor, Salem; Miss Hazel Van Fossen, clerk, East Liverpool; George Pancake, farmer, Negley; V. Shive, tinsmith, Leetonia; J. A. Grant, mill manufacturer, Salem; S. Crawford, grocer, Columbiana; J. H. Campbell, merchant, Washingtonville; Homer Everett, farmer, Lisbon; Daniel J. Miller, grocer, Columbiana; Max H. Eaton, auto salesman, East Palestine; John C. Baxter, clerk, Lisbon.

Mr. Bennett told the jury of "third degree" tactics being used on Johnson to make him confess the murder of William T. Hyatt, volunteer policeman, Wellsville. He explained how Chief of Police John Fultz, Wellsville, pushed his face into that of the corpse and said, "Now say you did not kill that man." Johnson replied, "I never saw that man before."

Wrong Man Held, Is Defense

Counsel for the defense also told the jury of another man at Homestead, Pa., being beaten by the police in order to force a confession for the death of Hyatt, although Johnson was in jail at Wellsville.

"William Hyatt did not meet death at the hand of Edward Johnson," Bennett declared in closing.

The state in this case has prepared a list of 33 witnesses and six of this number were on the witness stand this morning. They are: John N. George, city engineer, East Liverpool; George Gonzales, county engineer's office, both of whom explained maps which the state had introduced as exhibits. These witnesses were followed by Mayor A. P. Dennis, Wellsville, who explained the organization of volunteer emergency policemen in Wellsville, and of Johnson confessing to him that he had held up the Smith poker joint in Wellsville.

Tells About Gambling

Alvin Smith, colored owner of the gambling joint that Johnson is alleged to have held up the night of Feb. 17, explained to the jury how it was done, under cross examination by Mr. Bennett told of the "skin" game that was run in his club room and of him receiving a rake off.

Charles Brinkley, colored, a frequent in the Smith gambling joint, said that he had "eased" out of the club room after it was held up and that the revolver which the state has introduced as exhibit C was not the revolver Johnson had the night the holdup took place.

John McSwaney testified he was getting his shoes shined in Peckington's shoe shop when Johnson was in that place. The witness said he did not see Johnson have a gun. McSwaney was not cross examined.

Judge Fred H. Wolf, who is hearing this case, indicated this morning that a Saturday session would be held.

CARDBOARD AUTO TAGS ARE BANNED

Ohio Registrar Asks Chief
Thompson To Break Up
Law Violation.

Operators of motor cars and trucks who are using paper or cardboard tags in place of the regular metal license plates must discontinue this practice immediately or face prosecution, according to an official announcement from the office of the secretary of state, received here by Chief of Police T. W. Thompson.

The warning is being sent out to all police chiefs and traffic officers throughout the state by Chalmers R. Wilson, state registrar of automobiles. Numerous violations of the license law have been reported throughout the state since March 1, according to the notice, and police officers are requested to break up this practice.

Tried To File His Income Return But Jailer Was In Way

Cincinnati, March 28.—"I tried to get out to file my return," said a letter received today by Charles M. Dean, internal revenue collector for southern Ohio, "but the jailer wouldn't let me."

The government official had inquired as to the failure to file on time.

"A good excuse," he said after verifying the claim to immunity.

PRESIDENT TAKES PERSONAL CHARGE OF SUGAR PROBE

Orders Sweeping Probe To Determine If Criminal Conspiracy Exists.

Washington, March 28.—For the second time within a week President Harding has taken personal cognizance of high sugar prices in the United States and has taken steps to find out who or what is to blame for the condition.

The president's first move was to order the department of justice to institute a sweeping investigation to determine if "a criminal conspiracy" existed to boost the price of sugar by manipulating the market.

Today in the face of a charge of Cordeil Hall, chairman of the Democratic national committee, that the new Republican tariff was the real cause of price increases, the president instructed the U. S. tariff commission to make a thorough inquiry into the reaction of the sugar market to the import duties established at the 67th congress.

Mr. Harding's order for the tariff probe was telegraphed from Florida to Thomas Marvin, chairman of the tariff commission.

Arrangements for the probe contemplated by the president had already been made by the commission pursuant to authority rendered by congress but there were indications today that Mr. Harding's personal interest in the matter would result in a probe of greater dimensions.

The executive has the power under the new tariff law to raise or lower rates that will when he believes economic conditions in the U. S. and abroad warrant such action.

ARCTIC EXPLORED FOR SCIENCE SAYS CAPT. MACMILLAN

Famous Explorer Takes Big Crowd On Trip To Unknown Baffin Land.

BEAUTIES, WONDERS
EXHIBITED IN FILMS

Crippled Children's Work
Also Shown In Movies
Given By Rotary.

Capt. Donald B. MacMillan, Bowdoin college professor and Arctic explorer, who has spent seven years in the Far North and who is preparing to return to "unknown" Baffin Land, took a large gathering of Salem people on a personally conducted tour to this strange and bleak land Tuesday night through the agency of moving pictures and stereopticon views exhibited in the High School auditorium.

Motion pictures revealing all the wonders of the trip, the rivers and mountains of ice, the beasts, birds and fish, the human inhabitants, were flashed before the wondering eyes. It was a straightforward story which this volutesome Maine man told, yet the audience followed him through some hazards with bated breath. Again a chuckle ran over the crowd as they saw the humorous incidents of the trip.

This entertainment was arranged by the Rotary club and the explorer was introduced by the club president, J. S. Alan. The program was for the benefit of the crippled children's work in Salem and a movie film depicting the stages through which the child is taken in its treatment proved intensely interesting to the large audience.

Seek Scientific Data

Men do not trudge along the deep snows and over treacherous glaciers with frozen fingers and feet just to answer the call of adventure, the explorer declared. They seek to establish by scientific investigation certain theories as truths which have been advanced in the study of the forces of nature.

Data and records of magnetic and astronomical measurements which have been brought back to warmer climes, that have been gathered at the top of the world, have been of great aid to scholars studying the forces which control the action of the earth in its course through space, Capt. MacMillan explained.

The magnetic pole, located at a point northwest of Hudson Bay, varies from day to day. Measurements which have been made by the various parties in the Arctic have established the fact that the magnetic pole swings in an arc from east to west, completing each swing every 315 years. It moves at the rate of six inches a day.

Due to this variation Capt. MacMillan's ship compass while on his way north toward the geographical pole, pointed south at one time when he was still some 1200 miles from the geographical North Pole. In the maneuvering of his ship about Baffin Land his compass pointed at all points at various times. The northern lights of the aurora was passed during his voyage and was to the south of his position a part of the time.

Voyage Shown In Films

The movie film covered practically all the incidents of special interest during the voyage from Wiscasset, Me., to the land of ice and back to Wiscasset, as well as the great variety of nature.

Covington, Ky., March 28.—With three new cases reported health officers here today started an examination of city water mains in an effort to trace the source of the typhoid epidemic that has attacked 40 people since the first of the year, 27 of them within the past week. Five deaths have resulted.

All school fountains have been closed, children being required to carry boiled water from their homes to meet their thirst.

STOTESBURY HOME CLOSELY GUARDED, MITCHELL SILENT

Report Man Implicated In King Girl's Death And Wife Separate.

Philadelphia, Pa., March 28.—Rumors today surrounded the closely guarded mansions of J. K. Mitchell and Edward T. Stotesbury, principals in the local angle of the Dorothy King murder case following their arrival here yesterday.

The grounds of the Stotesbury estate at White Marsh remain barred to the outside world with guards at the only opening gates who pretend that they do not even understand English.

The Mitchell residence on fashionable Rittenhouse Square is shrouded in silence. Whether or not Mr. Mitchell is in the house is a matter of conjecture. Those who maintain that he is in the house have on three occasions positively identified three different persons as Mr. Mitchell.

If Mr. Mitchell is at his home, it would indicate that Mrs. Mitchell has not forgiven him for his relations with the slain New York model, Mrs. Mitchell and her children remained at the Stotesbury estate last night and were reported there early today.

An attitude of complete indifference to public opinion characterizes the Mitchell and Stotesbury families. Even communication to them of published statements indicating that Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell have separated failed to elicit any comment today.

BOY SCOUTS GET KLAN DONATIONS

A letter forwarded through the East Palestine postoffice coming from the Ku Klux Klan and addressed to the treasurer of the East Palestine Boy Scouts, was found to contain two $50 bills to be used by the scouts in any manner their code of honor approved.

A letter was written to the scouts commending them for their excellent scout spirit and promising them the support of the Klan. The people of East Palestine were first acquainted with the fact that the Ku Klux Klan had organized in that town when 11 of the robes klansmen entered the Christian church there last Sunday night, presenting the pastor, Rev. Dennis Meyers, a letter containing $80.

The plane caught fire and was destroyed.

Offer Reward Of $100 For Information Leading To Apprehension.

BCOZE FOUND ON FOUR OCCASIONS

Lodge Officers Trying To Conduct Affairs In Orderly Manner.

Drastic action is promised by officers of the Salem Moose lodge with regard to liquor law violations, in a statement issued Wednesday morning by Fred H. Brigrman of Pittsburg, first assistant general dictator of the national Moose lodge.

A reward of $100 for information that will lead to the apprehension of persons alleged to have been "planting" whisky in the Moose lodge rooms here was authorized by Mr. Brigrman in his statement.

This action was taken at a meeting Tuesday evening of the trustees and follows reports of whisky having been found in the lodge rooms recently, according to Mr. Brigrman. The whisky has been found in small quantities on four different occasions recently, according to the statement of the lodge officer.

"I am perfectly satisfied that the officers of the lodge here are doing their utmost to conduct the lodge affairs as they should be conducted," declared Mr. Brigrman. "We have found whisky on four different occasions and we are satisfied that it has been 'planted' there on each occasion," he continued.

Think Whisky Is Planted

"We do not need the aid of any other organization to clean our own house; we are doing that ourselves and I am satisfied that everything is being done properly and that every officer of the lodge is doing his duty in the correct manner."

"We have investigated and believe that the whisky has been placed in the lodge rooms where it could be easily found in case someone wanted to find whisky in the rooms."

"As the result of this investigation we determined to offer a reward of $100 for the apprehension of the person who has been placing this whisky there and it makes absolutely no difference to me who the guilty person is; he will be dealt with severely. It is mighty hard when we are doing everything possible to conduct our own affairs in the proper manner and then have to deal with such a situation as this. But we are determined that it shall be stopped immediately," said Mr. Brigrman.

Mr. Brigrman has been in Salem several weeks, having taken charge of affairs of the local lodge after reports had been received by the grand lodge of irregularities in connection with the prohibition laws.

FERREN CANDIDATE FOR SECOND TERM

Mayor Seeks Renomination
On Platform Of Law Enforcement.

East Palestine, March 28.—Mayor Albert W. Ferren today came out for renomination to the mayoralty, standing on a platform of staunch defense of his crusade against the liquor traffic.

His formal statement follows: "I am a candidate for the mayoralty for a second term on the record I have made thus far. I have done the best I could under the circumstances. I have been conscientious in law enforcement and have tried to serve all the people as an official of city or state should."

"That I have made mistakes goes without saying, but they have been mistakes of the head, not of the heart. It is my duty to myself and to my city that I offer myself as a candidate again so that the voters may have a chance to pass on my work and say whether they favor law enforcement or not."

"That is the question as I see it and as the voters shall pass upon it at the polls."

JACOB SANOR, 87, DIES NEAR SALEM

Infirmities of age are given as the cause of the death of Jacob Sanor, 87, at 9 p. m. Tuesday at the home of his grandson, W. E. Burson, Scrabble, where he had made his home for about four years.

Mr. Sanor was born and spent most of his life in West township. He was a farmer by vocation. He was a member of the Masonic lodge at Homeworth.

These children survive: Mrs. John A. Sumner and Mrs. Emmett Pieren, near Alexander; Mrs. Elmer Pieren and Mrs. Walter Russ, Canton; Mrs. Harry Knowles, Alliance; and Mrs. Wilmer McGaffie, Beloit; also one sister, Mrs. Marion Hahn, Moultrie.

A short funeral service will be held at the home at 10:30 a. m., Friday, followed by a service at 1 o'clock at the Moultrie chapel and interment in the cemetery there.

Human Factor In Industry

THERE was organized recently in New York the American Management association, its 299 members being representatives from the largest industrial and commercial lines in the country. The announced purpose of the new organization is to secure a larger and more general recognition of and interest in the human factor in production. That sounds like the professional welfare slogan and, standing alone, is but a high-sounding phrase of uncertain meaning. But it has a different and definite meaning and is full of promise when considered in the light of statements made public by leaders in the new organization.

The purpose is to develop a community of interest between employer and employee, in part by making the employee more familiar with the problems of business, of production and of marketing. With full information of the practical problems the business managers must solve, the employee would understand the justice and validity of what course was followed, would be more deeply interested in the concern of which he is a part, would have more reason to make himself an important factor and would know and feel the fairness with which business was directed. If these ideas were given general application in commerce and industry leading men feel it would not be vain to expect a larger contribution of thought and interest from the employee and that results of value to all interests would be in evidence.

Charles R. Hook of the American Rolling Mill Co. of Ohio was one of the principal speakers and promoters of the organization. It was his contention that the corporation and the worker have a common interest and that interest can be developed and made stronger, that a fuller understanding will promote general confidence, the confidence of knowledge that will be lasting and productive of good results for all parties.

There is a large field for the activities of the new organization, and vast possibilities for good as its plans are developed and applied, an important adventure for employer and employee. It will be interesting to watch the work to be put under way. It will call for the most skillful diplomats, its value is wholly in the way it is administered. It is altogether justifiable to assume that employees will be fair if they know the practical problems employees have to meet, that a larger and more complete information will help stabilize industry and bring better conditions. The plan is both idealistic and practical.

Another Use for X-Ray.

The French investigators, who are among the most ingenious, have discovered that the X-ray furnishes a very ready means to detect stony impurities in coal. Now, carbon is very transparent to the Roentgen rays, while silica is opaque to them. Consequently the silicates, which form slag when coal is burned, can be seen like a skeleton when the shadow of the coal is projected upon a fluorescent screen. It is reported that this method is much in vogue in France.—Washington Star.

His Opinion.

"I was reading in the paper last night," remarked Gabe Giggery, "that over there in Rooshy you can beg a divorce as easy as buying a sack of peanuts, and then get married in five minutes, if you want to."

"Well, I'll tell you," replied Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge. "Judging from the pictures I've seen of them there Rooshian ladies, if I got a divorce from one of 'em I shore wouldn't want to marry another'n for several days."—Kansas City Star.

In the recent drive to raise money for the Radcliffe endowment fund an alumnus of that college employed two small boys to sell soap. "Why are you selling the soap?" inquired a lady at a house on Johnnie's beat. "To raise $2,000,000 for Radcliffe," was the prompt reply. "Three million dollars!" the lady exclaimed, amused at the youngster's seriousness. "And are you going to raise it all by yourself?" "No, ma'am," said Johnnie, "there's another little boy helping me."

Yes, Quite Fair!

According to the New York Morning Telegraph, Mr. John Barrymore, struggling aimlessly through the Plaza recently, was encountered by an old friend. "Why, Jack!" exclaimed the old friend. "It's been such a long time since I've seen you. How are you, anyway?" Mr. Barrymore announced that he was perfectly splendid, or something to the same effect. "But look here! Aren't you opening in 'Hamlet' tonight? What about it?" "Well," he remarked in a noncommittal tone, "it's a good part."

Facing the Fact.

My employee, who most strenuously objects to smoking, comes to the office every morning and invariably leaves at noon for the balance of the day. Immediately upon his departure I draw my pipe from my pocket and enjoy it to the fullest extent.

One afternoon he gave us a surprise by walking in. I hastily put my pipe in my pocket, not knowing what else to do with it. While bending over my books he kept remarking about smelling something burning.

Finally the stenographer procured a glass of water, and as she dashed it on my burning coat I will confess it was the most embarrassing moment of my life.—Exchange.

Home-made Remedy Stops Coughs Quickly

The best cough medicine you ever used. A family supply, easy and quickly made. Saves about $2.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results, it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it is pure and good.

Four 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make a full pint—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying, throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, famous for its healing effect on the membranes. To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

A Question of Degrees

By MORRIS SCHULTZ

(© 1932, Western Newspaper Union)

"Harvey, I do love you, but it's no use. I've just got to marry Elmer Meredith," sighed Vanna Delaine.

The young planter scowled. "It's no better than slave-buying," he said morosely.

"I suppose it's what's going on everywhere," said Vanna. "We must be satisfied just to be friends, Harvey."

"I shall not give up hope until you're married, Vanna," said Harvey as he turned away.

He rode back savagely. It was, as he had said, simply slave-buying. Colonel Delaine's orange orchard was all he had in the world; the price of oranges had gone down with a bang, and Elmer Meredith was going to foreclose unless Vanna married him. And that meant homelessness for the colonel, who was lying desperately ill.

No, nothing else was to be thought of. The orange crop might have been sold on the trees, but Grace, the buyer, was hesitating about prices in face of the sudden decline in prices. And, even if Grace bought, it would only stave off the inevitable for three months.

And Colonel Delaine was not likely to get any better.

Harvey racked his brains, but there was no way of winning Vanna. He had invested every penny of his small property in his land and young trees, which adjoined the Delaine plantation, and, moreover, he, too, was struggling hard to keep his property from passing to Meredith, who held the mortgage. It would kill the colonel to lose "Sycamore Nest." The colonel had no idea how much money was owing for the expenses of his illness.

A few days later Harvey rode round to Vanna's.

"I see they've had the worst blizzard in twenty years at Medicine Hat," he said. "Suppose it comes south, Vanna?"

"The meteorological bureau will notify us in time," said the girl.

"Two days at most, Vanna, I'm going to set my men, Jim and Pete, to work piling wood between all my rows of trees, and between yours, Vanna. This may be like the frost of '95 that killed all the trees in this district."

Vanna demurred, but Harvey insisted. "I've just got a sort of hunch, Vanna," he said.

Three days later, when the work was completed, frost warnings appeared in the local papers. There was considerable bustle. Orange trees will stand three or four degrees of frost; not more. Three or four was the worst that had been known in nearly thirty years.

A few planters got some corn cobs and light stuff in readiness for a snuggle—most took no notice of the warning.

But the temperature was falling steadily. It was going down two degrees an hour, and when it touched freezing Harvey was over at Vanna's place.

"I've told the boys to light up, Van," he said. "Come along and let's get busy. We need all the hands we can get."

Two hours later the thermometer stood at 27. An hour after that it was at 25. It touched 23 at midnight.

But the fires on Harvey's and Vanna's land were throwing out heat and a cloud of snuggle to shelter the tender trees. All night they and the blacks labored. And at seven in the morning it was just 32, and going up steadily.

The danger was past. The golden fruit hung ripe upon the trees. But all around them lay ruined plantations and dead trees.

Grace was up post haste that morning. "I'll take that four dollars you offered, Miss Delaine," he said.

Harvey, standing by her, laughed. "We'll wait and see what news the papers have," he answered.

"See here, I'll make it five-fifty," stuttered Grace.

"I won't sell under seven," said Harvey firmly. "You'd better hold out for that, too, Vanna."

"You be d—d!" spluttered Grace, remounting his horse and galloping away in duceon.

Elmer Meredith was around a little later. He glanced invidiously at the crop. "Some smart work, Miss Vanna," he drawled. "I just came over about that little matter of the mortgage." He glanced invidiously at Harvey.

Grace came galloping up. "I'll make it seven!" he shouted.

"Eight's our price now," said Harvey, and Grace closed promptly. "All right, Mr. Meredith, we'll send you a check this afternoon," he said.

"What the devil's it got to do with you?" demanded Meredith.

"Oh, perhaps you didn't know that Miss Delaine and I are engaged to be married," Harvey answered.

Too Careless.

What strange liberties our story writers take with their characters' eyes. Here are a few examples:

"Her eyes roamed carelessly around the room."

"With her eyes she riveted him to the spot."

"He tore his eyes from her face and they fell on the letter at her feet."

"He drank her in with drowning eyes."

"Their eyes met for a long, breathless moment and swam together."

"Marjory would often take her eyes from the deck and cast them far out to sea."

"He tore his eyes away from hers, causing intense pain to both."

"We should think it would.—Boston Transcript."

ARCTIC EXPLORED
FO SCIENCE SAYS

riety of experiences in making and breaking up winter quarters in Baffin land, phases of housekeeping under the Arctic snow, many glimpses of Eskimo life and dog life, sledging over the deep snow and close-up views, such as have never been given before by photography, of great glaciers and icebergs in their manifold eccentric shapes.

The still pictures were equally interesting, and consisted of several maps showing the territory as well as scores of superb colored views of the scenery, the animals and the flowers, of the latter there being more than 750 varieties in this supposedly bleak land of snow and ice.

MacMillan gave pictures showing the return of spring, the freeing of the Bowdoin from the ice, and the return to civilization with the great reception, which was accorded him at Wiscasset, when he arrived there on Sept. 12.

Some of the most remarkable pictures shown were views of the midnight sun, giving its course through the heavens.

The huge barren cliffs of Northern Labrador skirted by the little schooner-erigged Bowdoin on the voyage were an awe inspiring sight and were declared to constitute the most impressive scenery on the eastern coast of North America.

Among the exciting movie scenes was that of a school of huge narwhals tumbling and rolling in the sea at close quarters, a walrus hunt by Eskimos in kayak and doory, in which both the rifle and the native harpoon were used to kill the huge beasts, the handy manner in which those primitive people draw dead walrus weighing from 1000 pounds to a ton onto a cake of ice in order to cut it up, and the pursuit and capture by lasso of a polar bear at sea.

Domestic Life of Eskimo

An interesting film of domestic life showed an Eskimo family catching trout through the ice by dangling a bit of ivory attached to a string through the ice to attract the fish, and spearing it when it approached the "bait."

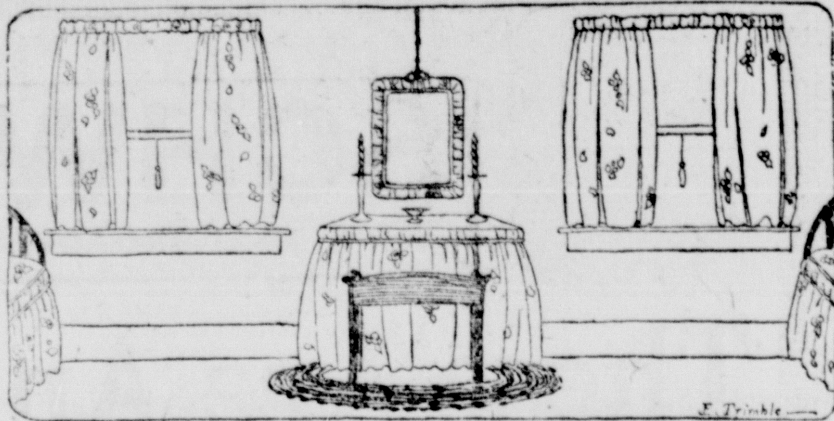

Great amusement was furnished by an Eskimo mother who with her baby strapped to her back speared trout with the greatest facility, and with scarcely less luck during a short period in which the baby partook of its natural refreshment.

The Eskimo dogs, which Dr. MacMillan declared to be an evolution of the Northern wolf and very brave in attacking polar bears or musk oxen, yet exceedingly affectionate and docile even with children, were a source of never-ending entertainment to the audience as shown toiling over the snow and great ice barriers with their sledges of frisking about in the snow in the periods of leisure.

The process of building Eskimo snow huts, or igloos, with blocks of snow cut with a handsaw or large knife, and with blocks of ice inserted for windows, was shown so graphically in the movies that the spectators was given a perfect understanding of the home life of that people, who sleep, a whole family in a bed and keep their provisions so handy that a hand may be stretched out of bed to grasp a piece of frozen meat whenever the appetite prompts it.

THIS DAINTY BEDROOM AT LITTLE EXPENSE

The dainty bedroom pictured here may be duplicated at little expense by any housewife who is clever with her needle. Pale green chintz scattered with apple blossoms drapes the packing-box dressing table, the black enamel bow-foot bed, and forms the window draperies. The black bench which may be bought secondhand, is upholstered with the chintz; the beds may also be bought secondhand and enameled. A shirring two inches wide with a cord in each edge is used across the tops of the windows, around the edge of the beds and the dressing table, and to cover the mirror frame. The dressing table top is covered with a piece of the chintz, over which ordinary window glass is fitted. The hand-branded rug is made of the scraps of the chintz with a deep border of black. The candlesticks and powder dish are of rose-colored glass and the candies and mirror cord are also rose.

Powdered Glass as a Poison.

During a recent murder trial in London, England, the subject of powdered glass as a poison was introduced, and this has led A. C. Pemberton, director of the Imperial Emery works, London, and other companies, to write the following letter to a London paper:

"Now, as a man with a lot of practical experience, I question whether powdered glass, taken in small quantities, is a poison at all, and I think it would be a very costly thing to try to kill anyone with diamond dust."

"My experience is gathered from the crushing and manufacture of glass for sandpaper, during which process, in the old days, when little care was taken regarding dust, men became whitened with the stuff."

Hookworm was first discovered in miners engaged in cutting the St. Gotthard tunnel through the Alps.

How many thousands will be unable to get ARCOLA this year!

IN 1921, 5,000 families who wanted ARCOLA had to go without.

This year three times as many homes are being built as in 1921. Yet because our factories are already over-taxed with orders for larger Ideal Boilers, we can make no more ARCOLAS in 1923 than we made in 1921.

This means just one thing—if you wait until next fall you will be cold next winter.

ARCOLA is our hot-water (or steam) heating plant for small homes—different from any other. It is connected with a genuine American Radiator in each room. That means warm bedrooms; breakfast in a warm dining room; protection for the children from colds and grippe; plenty of hot water for washing and bathing.

Please telephone your Heating Contractor for an estimate today. The installation can be made without disturbing the family; and in three average winters ARCOLA will pay back a large share of its cost in the fuel it saves.

SOCIETY

Miss Allen To Wed

News of the engagement of Rev. Myrtle O. Allen, Cleveland, and Larkin J. Hadley, Mooresville, Ind., was conveyed to a group of Miss Allen's friends at a party given by Mrs. Francis Rice, sister of the bride-elect, Tuesday evening at her home in Beloit.

The "cat" was let out of the bag at the table at which a delicious two-course lunch was served. In the center of the table was a "cat" in a "bag" and from it were strands of pink ribbon to each place. Concealed under the "cat" was the one end of the ribbon to which was attached pretty cards which bore the names of the prospective bride and groom and the guests were apprised of the news when they pulled the ribbons. Candles in crystal holders added attractiveness to the table and a motif of pink and white predominated in the appointments. The evening was enjoyed informally in visiting.

Miss Allen, who is formerly of Salem, is a graduate of the Cleveland Bible institute and for some time had been engaged in pastoral work. She has served as assistant pastor at both the First and Second Friends churches, Cleveland. Since last fall she has been employed in the office at the Cleveland Bible institute. She is highly respected by a wide circle of friends. Mr. Hadley is a senior at the Cleveland Bible institute and is now being recorded as a minister.

The guests at the party were: Miss Helen Maxwell and Mrs. Oliver Linton, Alliance; Miss Eva Clausen and Miss Wilma Kinsey, students at the Cleveland Bible institute; Miss Erma Ramsey, Theima City; Misses Nora McCauley, Mabel Shreve and Edith Sams, Beloit, and Mrs. L. E. Allen, Mrs. Earl Allen and Miss Pearl Walker, Salem.

Travelers Club

When Miss Judith Brooks opened her home on Highland ave to members of the Travelers club Tuesday afternoon a varied and excellent program was given in charge of Miss Isabel Mullins, Mrs. W. H. Matthews and Mrs. Stanton Heck. H. Parker, Lowell secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, gave a very entertaining talk.

A unique and interesting number was the musical contest in which strains from 12 old familiar airs were played by Miss Florence Murray. The honors in the contest were awarded Mrs. Amelia Francis.

Two readings were given in a pleasing manner by Mrs. Heck and Miss Mullins. Current Events, Lawrence Drennen, public speaking instructor at the Salem High school, contributed two readings, one from O'Henry and an Italian poem, which were well received.

Miss Brooks served refreshments at a social period which followed the program and her hospitality was much appreciated by the members.

This meeting brought to a close a most profitable and enjoyable year. The annual picnic will be held this summer, but no date has been announced.

W. C. T. U. Program

An exhibit of pictures of national and state officers both men and women was an interesting feature of a meeting of the W. C. T. U. Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Catherine Finney, East Sixth st., with Mrs. W. A. Leatherberry in charge of a program on "Christian Citizenship."

The meeting opened with a drill on judicial, state and county officers, following which important events of the day were given. This program was given.

"The New Vice President's Home in Washington," Mrs. John Wagner; "Constitutional amendment thought to make possible congressional action relating to marriage and divorce," Mrs. Vernon Bryan; "Bill to provide industrial home for federal women prisoners," Mrs. Frank Edwick; "One of the problems of citizenship," Mrs. Laura Garside; "Anti goes on a tour of inspection and reports that America's real Sahara is Indiana," and "State enforcement bill passed by Oregon senators," Miss Laura Schilling; "One People, One Union," Mrs. George Gamble. In two weeks the members will meet with Mrs. H. P. Litty, East Sixth st.

Luncheon-Bridge

Mrs. R. W. Hawley presided at a 1 o'clock luncheon-bridge Tuesday afternoon at her home on East School st. Easter decorations and favors were used in the luncheon appointments. Five tables of bridge were in play, the prizes having been won by Mrs. J. A. Harwood, Mrs. James Hill and Mrs. W. C. Wingo. The guest list included Mrs. Dwight Kepling of Alliance, Mrs. George Clark of Sebring, Mrs. Homer Deemer of Lisbon and Mrs. John Kearney of Leontia.

Honors Miss Mulford

Continuing the round of pre-nuptial festivities for Miss Laura Mulford, bride-elect of James Wilson, Mrs. P. T. Miskinins, Jr., entertained at a bridge party Tuesday afternoon at her home, Lincoln ave. The prize winners were Miss Mulford and Miss Kathryn Nelson. A shower for the honor guest was a feature. Mrs. W. F. Wright, Lisbon, was an out of town guest.

Honor Captain MacMillan

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Dunn extended the hospitality of their home in Lincoln ave. Tuesday night to a large number of friends whom they invited to meet Capt. Donald B. MacMillan, Arctic explorer and lecturer, following his lecture at the auditorium. Dr. and Mrs. Park R. Kolbe of Akron were in the group.

Glenn Switzer and Cecil Scullion have returned home from Cleveland and Lorain where they had been since Sunday night.

Miss Martha Wells of the Goshen rd., is confined to her home by illness.

DOING AWAY WITH LEAKAGE

Soldering Always Important Point in the Proper Care of Electric Contacts in Radio Work.

All electric contacts should be soldered. There are plenty of reasons why this step should never be omitted. In radio work the aerial currents are always feeble. It does not do to lose any. No better leak device is known than a handle of sharp points. Electric charges escape by this route into the surrounding air at every opportunity.

When electrons find a region set with narrowing edges and points they crowd into it, driven by their powers of mutual repulsion. Voltages become high out on narrow areas. Electrons find it easier to leap to molecules of air nearby than to stay among their kind on the point. There is a remedy that is easily applied. Bend down all projecting ends of wire and melt a large drop of solder over the whole spot. Electrons find it most difficult to get off a sphere.

Soldering provides a continuous metal contact between wires, and does away with losses by resistance, to a large extent.

Born in Berlin, Germany, Mrs. Rozesky came to the United States a number of years ago and previous to her residence in Salem for the past two years, she lived in Oil City, Pa. Surviving are her husband, Joseph Rozesky, one daughter, Mrs. Anna Miller, three sons, Joseph, Frank and John all of Salem and one brother and one sister who reside in Oil City. Funeral service will be at 10:30 a. m. Saturday at St. Paul's Catholic church in charge of Rev. A. J. Macnamara; interment in Grandview Burial park.

William F. Stiver
William F. Stiver, 61, Leetonia, an invalid for five years, died at 1 p. m. Tuesday at his home, a complication of diseases being given as the cause of death.

Mr. Stiver was born Nov. 3, 1862, one and a half miles east of Leetonia. When a boy he moved with his parents to that village and has since resided there.

His widow who was Miss Lulu Weber before her marriage, and eight children survive: Fred, Howard and an age-sick, Calif.; Harriet, Chester, Eugene, Lawrence and Mary at home; also one sister and two brothers, Mrs. Joseph Lincker, Cleveland; John Stiver, Montana, and O. C. Stiver, Leetonia.

The funeral at 2 p. m. Thursday will be at the home conducted by Rev. W. H. Stewart, pastor of the M. E. church; interment in Oakdale cemetery.

Funeral of Mrs. Schuler
The funeral of Mrs. Persanna Schuler was held Tuesday afternoon at the home with Rev. H. H. Scott officiating. Miss Mary Mellinger sang "Calvary" and "Safe in the Arms of Jesus." She was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. A. B. Hobson.

Among the friends from out of town were: Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Ruhlman, Youngstown; Mrs. Anna Ruhlman and J. A. Paulin, Woodworth; and Mrs. Winfield Hoffman, Alliance.

Rat Campaigns Successful.

The biological survey of the United States Department of Agriculture conducted an anti-rat campaign in Georgia during December, and followed it with a similar campaign which is in progress in Virginia. In co-operation with the extension service of the Georgia Agricultural college, preliminary organization work was done, and a statewide publicity campaign was put on. The campaign attained its greatest efficiency at Atlanta when the chamber of commerce purchased and distributed free of charge two and three-quarter tons of barium carbonate for poisoned baits for rats. Satisfactory results are reported both in the number of rats killed and in the interest aroused in making conditions less favorable for these pests by eliminating sources of food and harborage and by the rat-proof construction or repair of buildings. It is planned to follow up the drives from time to time as required to control the rats effectively.

An Old Maid's Heart

By MYRA CURTIS LANE

(Copyright, 1932, Western Newspaper Union)

In the beginning—how many years ago was that?—Esther James entered a world of horsehair furniture. Birth had given her substantial, prosperous, commonplace parents. They furnished in accordance with the prevailing taste. Horsehair and black walnut, antimacassars, gilt clocks, stuffed birds, and fruits—pears, peaches, plums, grapes—in wax under the glass dome that must never be touched for fear of breaking.

So Esther grew up. About the time when she was eighteen she had a love affair. The boy was Allan Craven, whose father was a lawyer in town. Esther loved him devotedly, they were engaged; then he left town and she never heard of him again.

One or two mild affairs followed. Esther was twenty-four when the real affair happened. His name was Miles Congreve. She met him at a summer hotel, they fell in love with each other and became engaged. Both were very happy. Two weeks before the date set for their marriage Congreve fell ill of typhoid. He died upon their marriage day, conscious to the last, and smiling, his hand in Esther's.

She knew that she would never love again, though she might marry. Esther went back to the horsehair furniture, and ruled the home for her father, her mother being dead. Those were the substantial days of the eighties. Their home was furnished in excellent taste. They entertained the best visitors in town. When Esther was twenty-nine Judge Emery asked her to marry him. Esther refused. She told him about Congreve.

"It doesn't matter," said the judge. "I want a woman to rule my home. Perhaps love will follow."

Esther could not be persuaded, and next year the judge married Mrs. Fawcett. That same year Esther's father died.

He left less money than had been expected. The household budget had to be very much less. Somehow Esther pinched and scraped along. When she was thirty-three Edgerton, the bank cashier, asked her in marriage.

She asked for a week to consider it. She went to her room and took down Congreve's letters from the shelf where they had lain, with a blue ribbon bound them. The picture of the boy, bright-eyed, cheery, tender, came before her mind. She would never love any one as she had loved Miles. On the other hand there were the prospects of old-maidhood to be considered. Esther hardly expected to get another chance. Though one man was as good as another.

She refused Edgerton, to his secret joy, for since asking her he had fallen in love with another woman—a very sudden affair.

The nineties came, then the new century. The horsehair furniture was quite out of style now, almost a curiosity. Esther was the only woman in the village who had antimacassars. There was not another wax fruit piece to be seen anywhere—that commonplace of her youth. People wondered why children had made samplers when they were at school.

Esther was forty, fifty, sixty. She was soured by life. She nagged, gossiped, like many another ill-conditioned old woman. After she had passed sixty she became known as a strong-minded woman who wasn't afraid to say what she felt.

"I wonder why Esther James couldn't get married," said Mrs. Edgerton to her husband. "Do you suppose she ever had a chance, John?"

"Oh, you never can tell. Most every woman has had a chance some time in her life," he answered. He had clean forgotten that he had ever proposed to Esther.

At sixty-seven Esther died in her sleep. Immediately there was great scurrying to and fro. There was to be a sale of the house and contents. The auctioneer was offering the parlor furniture. There was a miscellany of stuff with it, too.

"Out of style, folks, but good, substantial furniture, such as they used to make," he cried. "What offers?"

The lot was knocked down for twenty-seven dollars to a buyer from a neighboring town. Nobody wanted horsehair furniture.

"I guess that's about good enough," laughed Jim Edgerton, the eldest boy. "She was a cranky old maid."

The auctioneer, who had known Miss Esther, came up as the purchaser was wrapping up his wax fruit. "Say, you're taking a mighty lot of pains with that junk," he said. "What you going to do with it?"

"Sell it again."

"Gee, who's going to buy that stuff?"

"I've got an offer of five hundred dollars for a good piece of wax fruit under a dome. The furniture's getting rare, too. Yes, sirree, it isn't Chippendale any longer, it's the good old stuff our grandmothers loved, our fathers tolerated, and we threw on the junk heap—the day comes when it comes into its own."

"Seems to me that's mighty like people's hearts, isn't it? That there old maid that nobody wanted—there was some letters of hers in that lot you sold me—oh, pshaw, what does it matter now?"

Sure Cure.

"Here's a young woman," said the editor of 'Advice to Girls,' 'who wants to know how to overcome the habit of blushing.'

"Told her to run around with a flock of dappers for a few weeks."

LIMIT HAD BEEN REACHED

Good-Natured Irish Woman Evidently Was Willing to Overlook a Good Deal, but—

The woman, according to her promise, went to the suburbs to take dinner with friends. She boarded a pay-as-you-enter car and settled down for a long ride. Soon her attention was attracted by the entrance of a big, fat woman with a large market basket and a huge bundle. She sat in the seat nearest the door on the left, set the basket at her feet and then piled the loosely wrapped bundle on top. At first she did not mind, but as the car went well until a man got in at the next block. Then, as the car gave a lurch, he fell over the basket and knocked off the bundle, which burst open and a turkey rolled on the floor.

"I beg your pardon," he stammered utterly confused, while the woman picked up her turkey, rewrapped it and put it back in place.

"Ah, and there's no harm done. It's all right, God bless ye."

The car jolted on and presently stopped again to take on another passenger. A second gentleman dropped in his fare, lurched forward and tripped over the basket. Again the ill-fated turkey tumbled in the dust. The passengers giggled, but not the woman. She rested her elbows on her hips and eyed the man with a pugnacious light in her eye.

"Sorry, madam, but—" he began.

"Ah, it's all right this time. God bless ye. But—I'll give the devil to the next poor fool who comes in."

And the glint in her eye told how much the next passenger would have to be thankful for if he watched his toes and avoided that basket.—New York Sun.

FINALLY SAW GREAT LIGHT

New Distinction Accorded George Washington by Wideawake Little Indiana Youngster.

—Because Milburn had been reading about George Washington at school, his mother gave him an illustrated book about Washington, relates the Indianapolis News. The first picture in the volume was that of George Washington on a horse, gazing with a rapt expression at a part of the country of which he was supposed to be the parent. Under the picture was the caption, "George Washington, the Father of His Country."

Milburn opened the book and began to read, "George Washington—George Washington, the father—" but there he halted. Finally, he appealed to his mother.

"Study the picture for a while, and see if you can't make it out," his mother advised.

Milburn did study the picture. Suddenly he had an inspiration, and at most bursting with pride, he shouted:

"I've got it now. George Washington, the father of the horse."

Up-to-Date Advertising.

As the late party-goer opened the door he saw a man wearing a burglar's mask kneeling before the safe. The next moment the man had turned and placed a revolver at the other's head.

"Throw up your hands," cried the intruder.

With the meekness of a lamb and the speed of an express train, he obeyed.

"You understand," remarked the man, pleasantly, "that I can, in the present circumstances, foot the premises at my pleasure."

"I do."

"You realize that you are at my mercy?"

"I do."

"Well, then," cried the masked man, "you will be interested to know that I got in through your dining room window without the slightest difficulty. Had it been equipped with Popson's patent safety burglar alarms this could not have happened. Installed complete with battery, $25. Allow me to hand you a circular and to wish you the best of good evenings and all the pleasures of the season."

Vanishing.

Plant a tree and get free honorary membership in American Tree association. It hopes to induce a million of us to set out at least one tree this year. Let's make it two million, or more.

You appreciate the forestry problem if you recently have had to buy any lumber. Lumber is vanishing, along with the forests. Our national lumber production now is less than 27,000,000,000 board feet a year, compared with 46,000,000,000 in 1906, though our woodsmen are attacking the forests more vigorously than then. Like liquor—the cask is getting emptier.

He Arrived in Time.

A veterinarian recently called to the home of an East sider was horrified on his arrival to see the children playing with a young timber wolf. The owner explained that he had purchased the animal believing it to be a German police dog. The wolf is now incarcerated in a heavy wire cage in the back yard.—Detroit News.

Naming the Dock.

It was a beautiful little lake. The man who had purchased an estate said he must have a dock for his motorboat and asked if there was any timber in the neighborhood. They told him there was plenty of hickory.

"Build it of that," he directed, "and I'll name it Hickory Dockery Dock."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Sure to Regret It.

57 ALIENS WANT CITIZENS RIGHTS

Fifty-seven men of alien birth will see Judge Moore and the naturalization officers for this district on Thursday, April 5, to show their knowledge of this government and its policies, executive officers and laws, in order to become citizens of the United States.

Of the 57, 18 are Italians, 12 are Englishmen, six Czech-Slovaks, five Rumanians, four Greeks, four Germans, three Russians, three Hungarians, one Pole, one Scotchman and one Austrian.

The hearing will start promptly at 9:30 o'clock and continue until all have been heard. As each man is accompanied by at least two witnesses to his character, the crowd in the court room when the hearing opens will be large.

GIFT MADE THEM WEALTHY

How Bridge Which Had Been Thought White Elephant Brought Fortune to Group of Marylanders.

Twelve years ago the Pennsylvania railroad gave away an old bridge over the Susquehanna river at Havre de Grace to private interests; the building of a new bridge had made it, apparently, valueless. Motorcars ever since have been crossing the structure in increasing numbers, and the men who got the bridge for nothing in 1910 recently sold it to the state of Maryland for $585,000. And in 12 years it was in their possession, they pocketed $570,000 in dividends, all in toll charges collected from motorists.

When the new bridge made the old one of doubtful use, the railroad company offered it first to the state and then to the county, but without success. If no one accepted it, the company was confronted with the necessity of removing it, which would have been very expensive. So finally the company changed it from a railroad bridge to a highway bridge, and considered itself lucky in finding a group of Maryland men who consented to accept the structure, which originally had cost $2,000,000.

The recipients put up $700 to organize a company. Last year the net returns from the bridge were $65,000. The state will continue to collect tolls until 1938, by which date it estimates the proceeds will retire the bonds issued against the purchase price of $685,000.—Baltimore American.

LEGAL NOTICE
Mary C. Hackett, whose place of residence is box 364, Ende, Colorado; George Steward, Will Steward and Charles Steward, whose places of residence are unknown, and the other unknown heirs at law of George E. Steward, deceased, will take notice that on the 20th day of March, 1923, the Peoples Savings & Loan Company of Lexington, Ohio, filed its petition in the court of common pleas, Columbiana county, Ohio, in case No. 1596, praying for the foreclosure of a mortgage executed by George E. Steward and Elma Steward to plain on lot No. 24 in J. M. Evans, first addition to the village, now city, of Salem, Ohio, given to secure a debt on which there is a balance due of $356.22 with interest from March 1, 1922.

Said parties are required to answer on or before the 26th day of May, 1923, in case No. 1596.

Attorneys for Plaintiff,
Published in Salem News March 21, 28, April 4, 11, 18 and 25, 1923.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS
Notice is hereby given that sealed bids will be received at the office of the Clerk of the Board of Education of Salem, Ohio, until 12 o'clock noon, April 5, 1923, for furnishing all the labor and material necessary to construct a six-room addition to the present Salem High School building, including: general construction, heating and ventilating, plumbing and wiring, etc.

Each bid must contain the name of every person interested in the same and must be accompanied by a certified check on some solvent bank in the state of Ohio, amounting to two (2) per cent of the amount of each bid, as a guarantee that if the bid is accepted a contract will be entered into and the performance of the same properly executed.

The price of labor and material must be separately stated.

Each bid must be addressed to Albert Hayes, Clerk of the Board of Education, Salem, Ohio, marked with the name of the bidder and the work bid upon on the outside of the envelope.

Proposals must be made on bidding blanks furnished by The County Company, architects for the board, at 1361 Mahoning Bank building, Youngstown, Ohio, or at the office of the Clerk of the board.

Plans and specifications may be seen at the office of the architects or at the office of the clerk.

The board reserves the right to reject any part of any or all bids.

By order of the Board of Education of Salem, Ohio,
ALBERT HAYES, Clerk.

She Kept It Going.
Emphasizing the virtue of persistence, Mrs. Kathleen Norris says, as quoted in the Boston Advertiser: "When my husband was a magazine editor in 1910, a certain battered and travel-worn story, a novelette, came to his office and was immediately rejected. Two years later, when he was on another magazine, the story reappeared. It was unchanged, the same little child story of optimism and hope. This second magazine paid a small sum for it, and it was serialized."—From the Outlook.

BETTER PITCHING PROMISED WHITE SOX THIS SEASON

Infield Is Reinforced By Acquisition Of Fast Third Baseman.

Seguin, Tex., March 28.—Pitching of a vastly improved caliber is promised the Chicago White Sox this season. Moreover, the infield, reinforced by the acquisition of Willie Kamm, $100,000 third baseman, last season with the San Francisco Seals, will be faster and more reliable than any other group assembled by Kid Gleason since the dismantling of his once peerless machine.

From the initial bell on April 15, Chicago should be a pennant contender in the American league—a cock-sure one, two three entry. Dead timber has practically been eliminated. At the start of the conditioning grind Manager Gleason was handicapped by the customary batch of hold-outs but this time there are only two absentees—Ernie Johnson, veteran shortstop and Charlie Robertson, a right-hander who last season pitched a no-hit perfect ball game against Detroit. It is believed that Johnson will soon enroll with the club. The management professes to be unconcerned over the status of Robertson.

Manager Gleason has made rapid strides in pointing his infield. Besides Kamm and the veterans, Collins and Sheely, he has been fortunate in uncovering two promising youngsters in Lee Taylor, a Butte semi-pro and Louie Rosenberg who hails from the sandlots of San Francisco. Both are fast.

Acquire New Pitchers
In addition to the 1922 pitching staff the Sox have acquired two strong right handers in Frank Woodward, the iron man from the Eastern league, and George Connally, formerly of Toronto. Woodward, who has been up before, serving with the Philadelphia and St. Louis Nationals and the Washington Americans, is regarded as a fixture. Big Ed Walsh, coach of the slugging corps, predicts a brilliant campaign for him. Connally has exhibited flashes of pitching greatness and his fast ball has been the talk of the camp.

Stubby Mack, who came to the club

What is rheumatism? Pain only. St. Jacobs Oil will stop any pain so quit drugging.

Not one case in fifty requires internal treatment. Rub soothing, penetrating St. Jacobs Oil directly upon the tender spot and relief comes instantly. St. Jacobs Oil is a harmless rheumatism and sciatica liniment which never disappoints and can not burn the skin.

Lumber up! Quit complaining! Get a small trial bottle from your druggist, and in just a moment you'll be free from rheumatic and sciatic pain, soreness, stiffness and swelling. Don't suffer! Relief awaits you. Old, honest St. Jacobs Oil has cured millions of rheumatism sufferers in the last half century, and is just as good for sciatica, neuralgia, lumbago, backache, sprains and swellings.

from Seattle in a $25,000 deal, is another right-hander regarded as a fixture.

The great Urban Faber apparently has lost none of his skill. His arm is as strong as ever.

Ted Blankenship, 1922 recruit who astonished the circuit, is at top form.

Dixie Leverett, who is certain to be a regular, has been slow rounding into form owing to a cold, but is otherwise in splendid condition.

Schalk in 12th Season
In addition, Gleason has been experimenting with Homer Blankenship, younger brother of Ted, Cecil Dunn, a right-hander, Joubert Davenport and Clarence Mockbee, southpaws and Phede Lambke, a right-hander.

The Sox are expected to depend upon Hooper, Falk and Mostil in the outfield.

Ray Schalk, entering upon his 12th campaign with the Sox, is slated to shoulder the brunt of the catching. Wise baseball men who have been watching the Sox perform against the New York Giants are certain that the team will be a dangerous contender all the way in 1923.

The College Professor Is Judged By What He Has Written—Not By His Teaching

It is the practice of some colleges to send a questionnaire to the faculty annually, inquiring what the members have published during the year. Those who have something to list are designated productive scholars. Which reminds one of Plutarch's anecdote of Caesar, who, upon seeing some strangers at Rome carrying dogs and monkeys in their arms and embracing and making much of them, took occasion, unnaturally, as Plutarch remarks, to ask whether the women in their country were not accustomed to bear children. The learned come bearing the monographs and treatises. But shall no one rise to ask them too whether their labors bring forth men?

From "The Ban on Teaching," by an instructor, in the April Scribner's.

OHIO LEGISLATURE PROPOSE TO OUST TRUSTEES OF KENT

McGilvrey's Removal Is Aim Of Bill To Increase Trustees To Nine.

Columbus, March 28.—Kent State Normal school is to undergo a change of management, including not only a successor to Pres. John E. McGilvrey but also a new board of trustees which will not be controlled by men friendly to Dr. McGilvrey in an official way.

This is the upshot of the friction between the senate finance committee and the present management of the institution.

Most of the cause of the trouble goes back into history which is now discussed only in whispers but the present issue is whether three trustees of a state school can defy the Ohio legislature and get away with it.

When Kent asked the legislature for $1,053,000 this year, the trustees were told they wouldn't get a red cent unless they got the resignation of Dr. McGilvrey. The trustees stood pat and hundreds of letters, pro and con, were received by members of the assembly.

The house finance committee weakened and at the last minute the Kent request for "one million plus" was slipped into the appropriation bill.

This money bill had to be O. K.'d by the senate finance committee. In this body the proposition hit a snag which almost sunk the whole business and threatened the survival, beyond next July, of the school.

"We must save the institution but we can't let the trustees tell this committee where to get off," said the majority of the senators.

Plan of Settlement:
Therefore the entire Kent appropriation was stricken from the finance measure pending a reorganization of the school by legislation.

The plan of settlement proposed will be something like this.

The law authorizing Kent Normal will be amended to abolish the appointment of five trustees and provide for the naming of nine trustees.

The striking out of the word "five" will declare the present members out of the school and will oust McGilvrey since their very jobs will have been created on the issue.

The present difficulty is in getting McGilvrey to agree to pass such a bill in favor of whom are for McGilvrey and as much as the deadline on New bills against the senate committee) the ad was March 1, and it takes three-fifths Embarrassing Moment.

While I was a senior in college, the national secretary of our sorority visited the chapter house one week-end. She was a dignified, well-poised woman of middle age, whose one peculiarity was an unusual walk.

One night when I came home too late to go into dinner, another girl and I late in the kitchen, and slipped down stairs to her room, which she had given up temporarily to the secretary. Not dreaming that dinner was over, and having nothing better to do, I had put on the secretary's hat and was imitating her walk before the mirror, when she appeared at the door.

"I'm trying on your hat," I stammered, with a fatuous smile.
"So I see," she laughed, but her good-natured manner didn't help my state of mind at all.—Chicago Tribune.

Flee to Escape Census.

In the Beersheba district of Palestine the Bedouins were so alarmed at the idea of a census that they left their illing grounds en masse, taking with them quantities of barley, writes the Jerusalem correspondent of the London Daily Mail. A contractor who had agreed to supply the government with barley was brought to the verge of ruin, having to pay for barley double what the government gave him for it. In the end the government withdrew the enumerators and the Bedouins returned.

Arrangements have been made whereby the work of transporting all materials from the Jaffe port and the railway station will be carried out entirely by Arab labor.

Street begging is greatly on the increase in London.

A TALK WITH A SALEM MAN

Mr. A. R. Durr, Retired Farmer and Carpenter, 102 E. Fourth Street, Tells of His Experience

There is nothing like a talk with one of our own citizens who, having hope and encouragement to the anxious sufferer from the dread kidney disease. We, therefore, give here an interview with a Salem man:

"The pains in my back were so severe and my back ached so much that it was all I could do to get around," says Mr. Durr. "Sharp pains took me in the small of my back every time I stooped and this trouble seemed to be worse in the morning. Pains caught me when I stooped to pull on my shoes and my kidneys were weak and I had to pass the kidney secretions freely during the day. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and got a box. After taking them, the backache was gone and my kidneys were in good shape again. I always keep a box of Doan's Kidney Pills on hand and use them whenever I think my kidneys need a little attention."

"Biggest Air Post."

Le Bourget, near Paris, is now dignified with the title of largest and most important airport in the world. No less than 4,812 passenger and freight airplanes were used in the various services during 1922.

In 1920 the number of passengers carried was 10,215; in 1922 the number had almost doubled—19,774. An average of 65 passengers daily took their places in air expresses for destinations all over Europe. A total of 463 tons of express were carried in 1922—an augmentation of 335 per cent over 1920. Compared with 1919, when the port was opened, the increase is of 2,200 per cent. Postal packets augmented to the extent of 143 per cent during the year.

Lines from Paris go to London, Tours, Amsterdam, Brussels, Berlin, Strasbourg, Prague, Warsaw, Vienna, Budapest, Morocco, Spain, Nice, Bucharest, Trieste, Sofia, and new fast expresses will start soon for Constantinople. The trip will take two days.

PICTURE FRAMES MAKE GOOD TRAYS

A plain picture frame painted or stained and fitted with handles makes a lovely tray. If one has a piece of Chinese embroidery brocade or a quaint old print to put underneath the glass. A coffee can covered with tapestry or cretonne edged with gold braid and topped with a colored glass ring for a handle forms an attractive cake or candy box. The powder dish is made of a grapefruit glass covered with gold net. The curtain pulls are easily made.

GHOSTS

By AGNES H. HOWARD

(© 1932, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

"That there is the house you're after. Big, ain't it? Kinda gloomy lookin', I'm thinkin'." My wife sez—

I gave the summer boarding house a speculative glance.

"How much is the fare?" I asked the driver.

"Fifty cents. I hope you like it there. There's some as says there's queer things happened in that there house."

"What sort of things?" I queried.

"Oh, 'tain't nawthin', but there's some about these parts as thinks there's such things as ghosts. Wal, maybe so, maybe so. 'Tain't for me to say. I ain't never seen none." He laughed.

"I hope I don't see any!" I exclaimed anxiously.

"Oh, maybe you'll have luck," he said. "She ain't had no trouble lately with that boardin' house. I guess that air ghost is getting to be a dead one for sure. Then queer people that used to own the place has been dead goin' on ten years now. I wouldn't worry—it ain't worth it."

"No, I won't," I promised, but nevertheless the seed of wonder had been firmly sown.

I paid him and advanced toward the house. I was greeted at the door by a large, middle-aged woman in a blue-checked gingham dress.

"Tim Miss B——" I offered, by way of explanation.

"Oh, yes. Come right in. Your room has been ready, waiting for you for two days now."

She took me upstairs to a large room, just off the back stairs.

"It's one of the very best in the house," she said. "Clean, big, and away from things." I shivered. "Make yourself at home." She went out and left me alone.

"Supper's at seven," she fairly screamed from the foot of the stairs.

At the supper table I ventured a question or two.

"What is this I hear about ghosts around here? Some interesting legend, is it?"

She eyed me sternly.

"Now, who's been a-filling you up with nonsense?" she questioned, rather too sharply, I thought. "I say that ain't no such thing as ghosts, and we ain't got none here. We ain't a-tryin' to keep them long." I wondered whether it was the ghosts or her visitors she didn't "aim" to keep long!

Two hours later I prepared for bed. At last I was ready. Something like a cold chill ran down my spinal column as I hastily blew out my light and crept into my cold, unfamiliar bed.

"Strange and rather clammy," I murmured to myself.

About three minutes later I brought my head up with a start, opened my eyes and peered into the lanky darkness. Had I really heard something, or was the strange newness of the place working its spell on me?

Less than ten minutes later I sat upright in bed. There was no speculation this time. I had heard something. I listened. A faint, light, tapping noise about ten times—then abruptly stopped. I waited for more. Then something slid, and I heard a crunch, crunch, crunch.

"You are a fool—a 'fraid-cat," I told myself. Soon after I fell asleep.

It must have been at least three hours later when I was awakened by the mingled sounds of a retreating automobile and soft, deliberate footsteps on the carpet, which were not retreating. I clutched the bedclothes and felt for the electric light switch. A thousand curses on houses which are not wired for electricity! The person coming toward me had stepped on a board which gave a small squeak, and then he (or she) stopped.

I dared not make a move. My muscles were taught. I was like one frozen to the spot. I could hear my heart beating like an automobile engine and my mouth and throat were growing dry. At last, instinctively, I drew my feet up slowly, silently. I tried to collect my thoughts. I began to think rapidly! There was but a thing I could do—but what could the creature do to me, anyway? He could but kill me, at worst. But I was not ready to die.

An unconscious prowler—a victim of insomnia? Some one in the wrong room—why, of course, I had it! A ghost! If I could have moved my lips or lifted my voice, I would have screamed, but I could do neither. I closed my eyes!

Then it happened!

The ghost grabbed me!

I remember plunging forward, and then the awful, terrible falling sensation.

I returned to consciousness to realize that Mrs. K—— stood over me with a lamp in one hand and a big Angora cat gathered under one arm.

"What's the matter? Did you fall out of bed? Hope you didn't hurt yourself none. That bed's quite high. I found 'ghosts' (I gasped) in your room. I've been wondering where he was. I wanted to put him out before I closed up for the night."

I staggered blindly to my feet and stared blankly at the cat. I had seen the "ghost!"

Skin Ablaze with Eczema

Constant Itching Almost Unbearable!

We know there is one thing that stops eczema, and that is more red blood cells. S. S. S. builds them by the million! You can increase your red blood cells to the point where it is practically impossible for eczema to exist. We know that so.

blood-cells increase in number, blood impurities vanish! We also know that night follows day. Both are facts! But have you, eczema sufferers, ever actually taken advantage of this wonderful fact? Thousands just like you have never thought about it! Skin eruptions, eczema with all its fiery, skin-digesting torture and its soul-tearing, unrelenting itching, pimples, blackheads and boils, they all pack up and go, when the tide of blood-cells begins to roll in! Blood-cells are the fighting giants of nature! S. S. S. builds them by the million! It has been doing it since 1826! S. S. S. is one of the greatest blood-cell builders. Blood-cleansers and body builders known to us mortals! When you put these facts together—then to continue to have eczema and skin eruptions looks more like a sin than a disease. Mr. Arthur N. Smith, Pearl St., Newark, Ohio, writes:

"My little girl had a very bad case of eczema. She began taking S. S. S. and is well now. I thank you very much. I tell my friends what a good medicine it is. I cannot talk too much about it, for I know it is O. K."

Here is your opportunity. S. S. S. contains only vegetable medicinal ingredients. Because S. S. S. does build red blood-cells, it cures rheumatism, builds firm flesh, fills out hollow cheeks, beautifies the complexion, builds you up when you are run-down. S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores in two sizes. The larger size bottle is the more economical.

INGROWN TOE NAIL

How to Toughen Skin so Nail Turns Out Itself

A few drops of "Outgro" upon the skin surrounding the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost overnight.

"Outgro" is a harmless, antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.

has been admitted to probate on the testimony of the subscribing witnesses Bernard C. Bailey and Otho E. Myers. The court has appointed Sarah E. Bailey and Clarence E. Bailey as executors of the will, no bond being required by its terms. Jerry Harmon, Flay Bailey, and George C. Cox will appraise the property and make a return of their findings to the court.

Owing to the death of George Owens, of East Liverpool, one of the executors of the will of George Kaufman, late of Liverpool township, the court has appointed F. H. Cartwright as executor. The appointment was accepted and he has filed his bond in the sum of $3,000.

Authorized to Sell Land

F. J. Moore, guardian of Charles McCaskey, of Madison township, has been authorized by Judge Riddle to sell a plot of ground belonging to his ward. The property will be appraised by J. B. Lyder, Ross Firestone and J. H. Hinchliffe.

In Bavaria an attempt has been made to introduce into commerce what may be termed solidified petroleum. Soda lye, fat and petroleum are heated together for an hour and give a soaplike product, which solidifies on cooling. Sawdust or other combustible may be mixed with the material, and it can be made into bricks for fuel. It would give a very smoky flame.

Only 10 out of every 100 flowers are scented.

MOST TREES FROZE BUT ORCHARD PAID

Because he started two years ago to take care of his trees, and kept it up all last season, even in the face of a freeze that killed most of the fruit on three-quarters of them, Walter J. Edgerton of Barnesville last year made more on his orchard than in the past he had made even in good years, without a spring freeze.

Mr. Edgerton is a demonstration orchardist, following methods recommended by extension men in fruit from the Ohio State university. One such method is a complete cost account. Here is what his accounts showed at the end of the season:

A crop of 885 bushels, mainly from 40 trees.

Sales at orchard totalling $852.50. Expenses, including those of his own labor, and 20 per cent depreciation charged on a new power sprayer, $92.65.

Net profit, $459.85.

Detailed, the accounts show that he

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Take Olive Tablets the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without gripping, cramps or pain.

TO PREPARE U. S. FOR ANOTHER WAR

WAR DEPARTMENT IS MAKING
PLANS FOR INDUSTRIAL MOBILIZATION.

STATEMENT BY EX-ARMY MAN

Colonel Wainwright, Now Member of Congress, Says Work Is in Hand to Insure Preparation for Any Eventualities in Way of Hostilities.

By EDWARD B. CLARK

Washington.—Plans are being made by the War department under the national defense act for the industrial mobilization of the country if war involving the United States again shall loom. In part, the plans have just been made public by Colonel J. M. Wainwright, who until March 4 was the assistant secretary of war, but who left that office because last November he was elected as a representative of congress.

Colonel Wainwright in his public statement says that the work in hand is to "insure so far as foresight may provide, that our industrial establishments and factories may be prepared, upon an outbreak of war, to turn as rapidly as possible from their peacetime tasks to the production and creation of those things that shall have the primary call and preference upon their facilities for production.

"This call and the load so placed," Colonel Wainwright continues, "should be so nicely adjusted that the essential needs of the people shall be disturbed only so far as is necessary. Many of these requirements can be met without great dislocation of business or industry—that is to say, the clothing, subsistence, and other elements of supply which do not differ essentially from the peacetime requirements of the people generally."

Disregard Army Chieftains.

Army men say that our industrial unpreparedness at the time of our entrance into the last war was on the plane with our military unpreparedness. The army chieftains had been urging preparedness along all lines for years, but they never could get a hearing. The word was always "No great war ever will come," and then when the great war did come the word was, "It is not possible that the United States will become involved." Army men were certain that the country would become involved but the expression of their certainty made little apparent impression.

The work of planning for industrial preparedness has not been completed. There is still, according to Colonel Wainwright, a great volume of detail planning to be done. The calculation of requirements is not yet complete, nor have these requirements been translated into terms of material and labor required. When the plan is completed it will not only be reduced to these terms but the requirements for them will be distributed geographically through the local industrial districts, and a complete study will be made of each one of these local situations in order to avoid the congestion in labor, power, transportation, housing and other things that existed in many areas during the great war.

Naturally the military plans which are prepared by the general staff of the army form the foundation of the industrial plans for procuring supplies. The army chieftains know what will be needed if war shall come, and know also what things must be at hand quickly. Any plan for industrial preparedness therefore will include what may be called a time table for deliveries. It is rather a cruel thing to say, but the general belief of those of us who served in the army in France is that if the United States had been prepared industrially and in a military way there would be many thousands more young Americans living today than is the case.

Would Draft Every Able-Bodied Man. The matter is not touched upon in what the former assistant secretary of war has to say, but it is believed firmly by army men that if the United States shall again become involved in war the draft for service will include every able-bodied man in the country, and even possibly, the women with them. It is virtually a self-evident fact that some of the troubles which have beset congress and the President of the United States never would have reared their vexing heads if men had been drafted to work as men were drafted to fight.

Many of the difficulties existing, or said to exist in the veterans' bureau in Washington, it is said, would not be present there today if there had been a manhood draft law at the outbreak of the last war—and this thing is said not only by military men but by lawmakers, irrespective of party, who have been brought face to face with the problems which have grown out of the discrimination matter between workers and fighters.

Any plan for preparedness for a possible future war in which the United States shall become engaged cannot perhaps be based in any part upon a project for the drafting of all the country's citizens, for it will require a direct act of congress to institute such a draft.

Of course it is an old story now, but if some stalwart Americans had not been allowed to work for $30 a day in peaceful pursuits, while other stalwart Americans were compelled to fight for $33 a month there would have been no bonus demand on the congress.

SEEK STATE AID FOR REILLY GRAVE

Lisbon, March 28.—A petition addressed to the speaker of the house of state representatives asking that the sum of $2,500 be set aside to maintain the grave of Gen. J. W. Reilly in the Catholic cemetery at Wellsville was circulated at the court house Tuesday afternoon and obtained quite a few signers.

The petition is being circulated in other towns in the county.

The petition states that "In as much as the estate of General J. W. Reilly, reverted to the state because no heirs were found and that it is being used in the school fund of the state that it would be fitting for this state to keep his grave in order."

The income from $2,500, it is believed would cover all repairs to the site and provide a fund for flowers and the service of a gardener to tend to the lawn and shrubbery.

PALESTINE MAYOR COLLECTS FINES

Lisbon, March 28.—Mayor A. W. Ferren paid a call to the sheriff Tuesday afternoon and collected $722, due his court in fines and costs that had been paid into the sheriff's hands by men paroled by the county commissioners.

Ferren is inclined to think that some of the prisoners who have been released under the rule governing the paroling of prisoners have been spoofing the county officials and that they have the money to pay their fines but are reluctant to part with it. He believes that the outlook in regard to law enforcement in this county is better than since the enforcement of the law was begun.

He left with a cordial goodbye and a hand shake.

RED PEPPER HEAT ENDS RHEUMATISM

Red Pepper Rub takes the "ouch" from sore, stiff, aching joints. It can't hurt you, and it certainly stops that old rheumatism torture at once. When you are suffering so you can hardly get around, just try Red Pepper Rub and you will have the quick relief known. Nothing has such concentrated, penetrating heat as red peppers. Just as soon as you apply Red Pepper Rub you will feel the tingling heat. In three minutes it warms the sore spot through and through. Pain and soreness are gone.

Ask any good druggist for a jar of Rowles Red Pepper Rub. Be sure to get the genuine, with the name Rowles on each package.

THEATRES

"Jazzmania" Mae Murray is taking her fans on a swing around the globe. So far, in her Tiffany productions presented and directed by Robert Z. Leonard and distributed by Metro, she has exhibited her talents in a brilliant Parisian setting in "Peacock Alley," in an exotic, glamorous Spanish setting in "Fascination," in a colorful modern American setting in "Broadway Rose." And now Miss Murray's histrionic and tersiphocean abilities are set in a different frame, even a different gallery; a country remote, charming, yet full of the oddest contrasts; where the river flows serenely by the palace, but where the inhabitants are not serene. Gayety is the face but intrigue is the heart of the situation.

"Jazzmania" is the title of the photoplay, to be shown Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the High School auditorium.

Robert Z. Leonard declares "Jazzmania" to be the finest Mae Murray picture ever made.

INTEREST IS LOST ON VICTORY NOTES

Owners Losing Thousands
Daily By Failing To Exchange Bonds.

Washington, March 28.—Holders of the Victory notes which were called for redemption by the treasury last December 15, have lost an aggregate of more than $1,000,000 in interest. Acting Secretary Gilbert declares that more than $80,000,000 of those notes out. Their owners are losing interest at the rate of $10,000 a day.

Opportunity has been given the holders of Victory notes, those which were called December 15 and those which mature May 20, to exchange their securities for fresh issues of government paper or for cash. The amounts turned in have been very small. The treasury was willing to retire those notes already called for redemption and any part of the $29,000,000 in Victory notes due May 20. In retiring the uncalled notes, the treasury has announced it will receive them at par, and adjust the interest. These notes bear the distinguishing letters G, H, I, J, K, and L, while the notes already called and upon which the interest ceased December 15, bear the letters A, B, C, D, E, and F.

Lisbon Kiwanis Aids Town Lighting Fund

Lisbon, March 28.—The schedule for the Class B basketball tournament has been arranged by George Porter of the Kiwanis club. The first series of two games will be played at the Rollaway Thursday evening when the Scratchmen of the Methodist church will play the United Presbyterian Sunday school team and the High school team will play the Presbyterian Sunday school boys. On Friday evening the winners of Thursday night will draw cuts and play the High school seniors after which the two undefeated teams will play the final game. The two losing teams will play a preliminary on Friday night. Funds secured from these games will be applied to the lighting fund.

DOUBLE FARM TAX IN LAST 8 YEARS

Washington, March 28.—Taxes on Ohio farms have more than doubled within the past eight years, the department of agriculture announces after a nation wide survey. Buckeye farms were taxed on an average of $1.24 an acre in 1922 as against 61 cents in 1914. The Ohio average is considerable in excess of the nation-wide average which was but 71 cents last year and 31 cents in 1914.

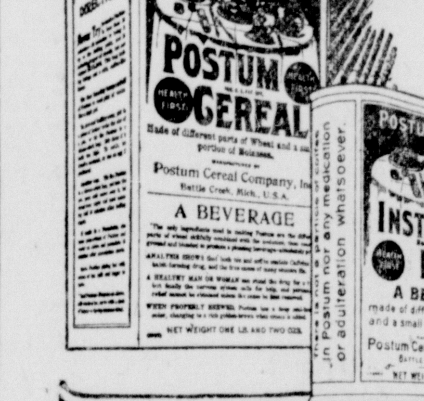

New Jersey farms are taxed highest. The tax there is $2.22 an acre compared with 96 cents in 1904. Arizona farms pay the lowest tax, seven cents an acre.

Indiana farmers paid $2.09 an acre last year, Michigan $1.58, Iowa $1.49, Idaho $1.40, Illinois $1.23, Wisconsin $1.23, Massachusetts $1.20, New York $1.13 and Pennsylvania $1.11.

Increased taxation on farm lands officials say is attributable to disproportionate increase in assessed valuation based on high land prices during and after the war and also because of the increased cost of state and local governments.

In the heart of La Joya, Peru, there are thousands of crescent-shaped sand dunes formed by the winds and slowly advancing across the level surface. One investigator measured one of these dunes, the points of whose crescent were 160 feet apart, while the length around the convex side was 477 feet.

excess of the nation-wide average which was but 71 cents last year and 31 cents in 1914.

New Jersey farms are taxed highest. The tax there is $2.22 an acre compared with 96 cents in 1904. Arizona farms pay the lowest tax, seven cents an acre.

Indiana farmers paid $2.09 an acre last year, Michigan $1.58, Iowa $1.49, Idaho $1.40, Illinois $1.23, Wisconsin $1.23, Massachusetts $1.20, New York $1.13 and Pennsylvania $1.11.

Increased taxation on farm lands officials say is attributable to disproportionate increase in assessed valuation based on high land prices during and after the war and also because of the increased cost of state and local governments.

In the heart of La Joya, Peru, there are thousands of crescent-shaped sand dunes formed by the winds and slowly advancing across the level surface. One investigator measured one of these dunes, the points of whose crescent were 160 feet apart, while the length around the convex side was 477 feet.

In the whole of England there are only a dozen women who are qualified to practice law.

Postum FOR HEALTH

"There's a Reason"

Your grocer sells Postum in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) prepared instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages) for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared; made by boiling fully 20 minutes.
